IKE'S 73.9 BILLION BUDGET SETS RECORD

Urges Hike In Postage

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower sent to Congress today a space age budget calling for record peacetime spending of 73.9 billion dollars. Much of it is to meet Russia's challenge.

He ruled out a general tax cut—or increase. But he urged increases in postal rates including a hike to five cents for out-of-town regular letters.

The budget submitted today was for fiscal year 1959, which begins July 1 this year.

The President said the "growing danger" of Russian progress in missiles, coupled with Soviet rejection of workable disarmament, demanded the big spending. The United States must show determination to remain "sturdy" in the many strengths that keep the peace," he said.

He put "priority of national security over lesser needs" in both civilian and military programs. He proposed sharply stepped up spending for longer-range missiles, nuclear armed or powered ships, science and education.

He advocated curtailment, revision or elimination of civilian pro-like ready for summit conference.

He's for it on condition that it shows good hope of promoting world peace and we suspect the President's 4000-word message to Bulganin may prove the most important and significant he's ever written.

In brief, it keeps the door open for negotiation and for peace and shows that this nation's foreign policy isn't so nearly strait-laced as State Secretary Dulles would sometimes have the world believe.

Still precisely like winter. In January what else is there to expect?

Rain late today, snow, sleet and rain tonight and the forecast couldn't be worse. Even the robins must be regrettably—haven't heard one of 'em warbling since the merry season.

Anybody yet notice any signs of early spring? We'd like a dozen of them.

Second Vanguard satellite test due at Cape Canaveral, probably this week, and here's a fair guess that this time it won't be a dud.

This accelerated missile program will get perkier before long. A year hence and the results should be apparent.

Quite a blaze, incidentally, that tree burning party by the Levittown Kiwanis club off the parkway near the Newportville road.

First time we've been warm for a month.

And Congressman Willard Curtin tosses his hat in the ring for a second term.

He deserves it. He's been about the hardest-working Congressman you've seen around these parts for many a year.

It's mighty hard, but mighty nice when you remember to forget your troubles.

persons were killed.

Bensalem Township experienced its first traffic fatality in over two years when a four-year-old Croydon boy died from injuries sustained in a Route 13 mishap.

The second tragedy claimed the life of a Philadelphia man in a Route 1 crash in Falls Township.

Bensalem Police Sgt. Norman Rigby said the death of Harry Hain, 4, of 829 Upper Washington Ave., Croydon, was the first in the township since a pedestrian was killed Dec. 31, 1955.

Officers William Johnson and Joseph Gallagher said the boy was injured fatally when the car of his father, Russell Hain of the Croydon address and a vehicle driven by a woman, identified by police as Rosemarie Olaszewska, 19, of Philadelphia, collided on Route 13 in Bridgewater.

Police said the woman was driving east on Route 13 and the Hain car was moving west when the accident occurred.

According to police, the Hain car crashed into a pole and the boy was hurled against the front seat.

He died three hours after the accident in Lower Bucks County Hospital of head injuries.

Released In Jail

The Philadelphia girl was released in $500 bail on a charge of involuntary manslaughter after a hearing before Justice of the Peace Albert Schultz.

The dead boy's father, Russell, 33, the boy's mother, Margaret, 34, and a sister, Carol, 1, were all treated at Lower Bucks County Hospital for injuries. The father was released and the mother and child are in good condition, the hospital reported.

The injured were taken to the

hospital by the Bucks County Rescue Squad.

In the Falls Township accident, Gault Finlan, 37, of Philadelphia was killed when his car collided with another on Route 1 as he attempted to turn onto the highway from a shopping center area early yesterday morning.

Officers William Moyer and John Lent identified the driver of the other vehicle involved as David Frankentfield, 22, of Philadelphia.

Thrown From Auto

Police said the man was thrown from his automobile after the collision. A passing vehicle, still unidentified, ran over the grams, such as flood control, farm aid, housing and financial aid to states. But he conceded such savings would amount to only 600 million dollars in fiscal 1959 even if Congress went along.

He refused to put any money in the budget for starting any new reclamation, flood control or navigation projects.

Small Surplus Seen

Counting on early reversal of the downward economic trend, the President estimated federal budget receipts in fiscal 1959 at 74.4 billion dollars. This would give a precarious surplus of 500 million dollars.

An originally estimated surplus of 1.8 billion dollars for this fiscal year was revised to a 400 million dollar deficit because of increased defense spending and because the recent slowdown in business reduced tax revenues.

He said he will ask Congress for another temporary increase in the

Curtin To Run Again For Congress Seat

U. S. Rep. Willard S. Curtin, of Morrisville, has announced he will seek a second term as congressman from Pennsylvania's Eighth District.

The Republican congressman made the announcement in accepting the unanimous endorsement of members of the Bucks and Lehigh County Republican executive committees. The endorsement was voted by 60 GOP leaders, meeting at Forest VFW Lodge, Sellersville, Thursday night. Curtin, at Quakertown on another engagement, then was invited to the meeting and accepted.

Police Theorize Levittown Woman's Death Accidental

Police today were waiting results of laboratory tests as they continued investigation of the death of Mrs. Olga Markevitch, 26-year-old Levittown mother.

As yet no indication of foul play has been reported and investigators state unofficially they feel Mrs. Markevitch died accidentally.

However, Bristol Township police reported that "officially" they have to "assume it was not an accident until all other possibilities have been ruled out."

Mrs. Markevitch's nude body was found at the foot of the stairs in her Jubilee style home at 57 Indigo Road, Indian Creek, Levittown, Friday evening by her husband Igor, 32.

Markevitch told police he had lived in Flemington, N.J., where he started a new job Monday and all last week. He found his wife's body when he returned for the weekend.

Coroner Thomas Lamb said, following autopsy, Mrs. Markevitch died about noon Thursday. Her body apparently laid at the steps until found 30 hours later by her husband.

Her two children, Sasha, 6, and Tanya, 2, had been in the house alone during this time.

State Police and county detectives have joined township police in the investigation.

Samples of Mrs. Markevitch's blood were sent to a laboratory in Philadelphia. Other tests are also being made.

Requiem Mass will be celebrated for Mrs. Markevitch in St. Mary's Church, Cassville, N.J., 8 a.m. tomorrow. She will be buried in St. Vladimir's Cemetery, Cassville.

In addition to her children and husband she is survived by a brother, Nicholas Sokoloff, of Scotch Plains, N.J.

Deadline Near In COINWORD

Time is running out if you want a crack at winning $450. That's the record jackpot in COINWORD No. 17. But if you want to win, you better get your answer in the mail or bring it to the Courier-Times office, Route 13, Levittown, before MIDNIGHT TONIGHT.

DETROIT (UP) — The United Auto Workers international executive board announced today it will demand a share of profits instead of a shorter work week from auto companies this year.

The board said its profit sharing program would split up profits above 10 per cent on net capital among company executives, stockholders, salaried and hourly workers and consumers.

In addition, the bargaining program the board will recommend to the union's special 1958 contract convention here Jan. 22-24 will include a general wage increase and a demand that the supplemental unemployment benefit plan be extended to a full year.

The board said its previously announced goal of a four-day work week was dropped in favor of the profit sharing plan because of the general economic recession and the "need for increased consumer buying power."

Under the profit sharing plan, executives and stockholders would get one-half of the profits in excess of 10 per cent on investment, salaried and hourly rated workers would get one-fourth and consumers would get one-fourth in the form of a rebate on purchases.

The general wage increase which the board recommended will be based on increased productivity and will be higher than the present productivity increase formula of 2½ per cent or 6 cents an hour, whichever is higher.

The board also recommended that the 19 cents an hour cost-of-

Boy Caught
Burglarizing
Food Market

A 14-year-old Croydon boy was caught in the act of burglarizing the Safe Food Market in the Croydon Shopping Center yesterday afternoon, police reported.

The youth was found hiding under a butchers' chopping block in the store by two Bristol Township police officers. When arrested he was clutching three cartons of cigarettes, 10 records, two dog collars as well as $7.26.

Saw Door Broken

The officers, Patrolmen Harvey Shaw and Edward Ward, had been dispatched to the scene after a passer-by reported seeing the rear door broken.

The boy, who was turned over to county juvenile authorities admitted breaking into two other stores in the Croydon center yesterday as well as the Delaware Valley Beverage company, Cedar Ave., Croydon, in December. He said he took $103 from the beverage firm. The boy said he spent the money.

Going in Circles

By MAURY ALLEN

The Bristol Township Police Force is losing its chief cook and bottle washer.

That's how Mrs. Gloria Steinberg, 6 Broadleaf Road, Blue Ridge, Levittown, describes her position as township police secretary. The pretty, 30-year-old mother of two daughters is moving with her husband and family to New York City.

"My husband has to move for business reasons and I can't convince him that commuting to New York only takes an hour. That's by my clock, of course," she said.

Mrs. Steinberg, who completes the circle by going back to New York — she was born in the Bronx — said her two years with the township police have been an exciting experience.

"Life is too short not to be enjoyed every minute. That's why I took such an interesting job as a police secretary."

Mrs. Steinberg packs a great deal into a mere 24-hour day. Besides her four hours a day stint with the police job, she is active in the Levittown Kindergarten and Nursery Association, Levittown's Temple Shalom, and the American Jewish Congress.

"But my husband never had to wait for his supper when he came home from work," she said with wifely pride.

It was mere chance that gave Mrs. Steinberg her police job. In fact, she didn't know she had it until she read about it in a news story in the Courier and Times.

"I filled out an application for the job," said the CNY graduate, "and then forgot about it. Two months later I saw the story. I'm glad I didn't take another job in the meantime."

Her face reddened just a little when she recalled the first station she took from an accused felon.

"It involved a sex crime. The accused man blushed when he had to mention a naughty word. I tried hard to keep a businesslike expression. A policeman saved the day when he suggested the felon whisper the word in my ear."

People with the verve of Gloria Steinberg are hard to find.

Many people around here, including Chief John R. Stewart, the township police force, members of her civic groups and this reporter, will miss her.

But alas, our loss is New York's gain.

living allowance currently paid to most auto workers be written into the basic wage rate.

The board said the union's contract program "departs from the traditional UAW collective bargaining program in that it provides a set of basic minimum economic demands to be applied to all companies under contract to the UAW."

The board said "a set of supplementary economic demands where the profit position of companies would allow for greater economic benefits to the workers in those particular companies over and above the basic minimums" will be asked.

Juke Box Records
Stolen By Burglars

Burglars took 80 45 RPM records of the latest popular songs from a juke box when they broke into Alvino's Restaurant, Route 1, Middletown Township, Saturday morning.

Sgt. Zolot and Patrolman Roger Thorsen reported that money was also taken from a pinball machine. An attempt was made to take money from the juke box and cigarette machine but it was not successful.

Police said the restaurant, owned by Anthony Alvino, of 163 Andover Road, Fairless Hills, was closed 1:30 a.m. Saturday and then reopened at 10:45 a.m. The burglary occurred during the night while the restaurant was closed.

Man Critical
From Wounds

A 70-year-old Croydon Acres man in the critical condition but improving at Lower Bucks County Hospital after he was hit in the abdomen with two blasts from a 16-gauge shotgun Saturday morning.

Bristol Township police identified the victim as Harry L. Collins. He lives with his daughter, Mrs. Ruth Ritter, at 1206 Nancy Ave., Croydon Acres.

Mrs. Ritter said she had an argument with her father and he threatened to shoot himself. He went in the bedroom and she said she started to call police. But then she heard a shot. She said she ran into the bedroom and saw her father on the floor.

She said she went out to call police again and she heard a second shot. Police said Collins apparently braced the double barreled gun between his lower abdomen and the floor and pulled the trigger with his right hand.

He was taken to Lower Bucks County Hospital by the Bucks County Rescue Squad.

Mrs. Ritter told police that he had tried to take his life several times before this incident.

Falls Township Police Sgt. Gilbert Custer and Patrolman Gino Mattozzi carried plasma from the Red Cross unit in Philadelphia to the injured man.

The blood was brought by Philadelphia police to Route 1 and City Line and carried from there by Falls Police to the hospital.

Miserable
Weather
Forecast

Classic miserable January weather will attack Lower Bucks today and last most of the week. Cloudy skies today with temperatures in the 30's will turn wet, gloomy and cold tonight.

The Weather Bureau at Trenton forecasts falling temperatures tonight, with a chance of snow or sleet.

The precipitation is expected to change to rain by tomorrow morning and clear during the day.

Afternoon temperatures will be in the 30's with an overnight low in the 20's tomorrow night.

Temperatures below the average of 33 degrees are expected the rest of the week, the weatherman said.

Yesterday's high was 30 at 2 p.m. with this morning's low recorded at 10 degrees at 6 a.m.

Ice skaters took advantage of the below freezing readings yesterday enjoying the cold on Langenfelder Lake, Silver Lake and other Lower Bucks County frozen waters. However, crowds weren't too large as many were afraid the ice wasn't thick enough.

Curtin To Run

ler, Bucks County and Moulton L. C. Frantz, Lehigh County, said the freshman legislator "has gained the respect and confidence of the people of our large community."

"Many times we have heard him... ask those whom he represents in Washington to contact him," the GOP chiefs said, "giving him the benefit of their respective viewpoints and thereby helping him to make decisions in casting his vote."

"Such action on Congressman Curtin's part is extremely democratic and commendable. He has conducted himself admirably while in office. He is a hard-working conscientious representative who has brought both honor and credit to Bucks and Lehigh Counties. We have found him to be a capable public servant of the highest courage and integrity."

If nominated in the Republican primary elections, Curtin said, he "will conduct a forceful campaign for reelection based on my strong personal belief that the people of Bucks and Lehigh Counties are entitled to know what I stand for, what I have accomplished and what I intend to get done."

"Let me make one thing clear," the congressman said. "My first obligation to the people of the Eighth District is to give full-time service to the duties of this office."

"I deem the present session of Congress of such critical importance to the welfare of our country that it demands, and will get from me, my undivided attention and attendance. With this consideration in mind, I accept your invitation to serve again in Congress with a sense of humility and with heartfelt gratitude."

FATHERS GROUP TO MEET

The Delhaas Fathers Association will meet 7:30 o'clock tonight in the cafeteria of Delhaas High School. Films will be shown in addition to the regular business.

62 Arrested, $10,000 Seized
In Raid On Burlco Dice Game

Sixty-two men were arrested and nearly $10,000 in cash was confiscated by police in a raid early yesterday morning on a floating dice game in the basement of a home in Pemberton, N.J. Township.

The raiders were led by Martin Queenan, Burlington County prosecutor, who burst into the home of David McElven, on Scrapetown Road, nine miles east of Mount Holly.

According to police, McElven was not at home when the raiders swooped down on the house, but his wife and two young children were asleep on the first floor. McElven arrived while the raid was in progress.

Nine of the men, including Frank (The Bumper) Pollastrelli, 51, of Monmouth St., Trenton, were charged with operating a gambling house. Arraigned before Municipal Judge James W. Anderson, at Browns Mills, each was held in $2,500 bail for the Burlington County Grand Jury. The rest, including 25 from Philadelphia, were each fined $100 and $5 costs on disorderly conduct charges.

The raid was the biggest in South Jersey since the Maple Shade crackdown eight years ago, when 186 suspects were arrested at the Maple Shade Casino.

Police said many of the suspects seized yesterday were picked up in the Maple Shade raid.

Polio Clinic Series
Highly Successful

The third of three Salk vaccination clinics at the Lower Bucks County Hospital ended Friday night with a large last minute turnout and the announcement that the series was highly successful.

The hospital staff doctors administered the $1 anti-polio vaccinations to 6,624 persons last Wednesday to Friday. On Friday 3,492 persons were vaccinated.

In the first clinic, in April, 8,000 were vaccinated. At the second clinic, in May, there were 10,000 Salk shots.

The clinics were sponsored by the medical staff in cooperation with the Bucks County Health Department and Medical Society.

Dr. John J. McGraw, president of the staff, this morning said the three clinics were a "gratifying success."

Levittown
Driver Fined

Thomas E. "Stringer," 25, of 18 Great Oak Road, Goldenridge, Levittown, was fined $200 and jailed from two days to one year after he pleaded guilty to drunk-driving charges in Bucks County Court today.

Stringer was involved in an accident on Route 1 at Hulmeville road, last November.

Other Lower Bucks County men who pleaded guilty to drunk-driving charges and their penalties were:

Vincent Spaciano, Box 244, Yardley, fined $250. He was involved in an accident Nov. 16 at Route 13 and Green Lane, Bristol Township. No one was injured.

Spaciano, the court was told, has a previous record of three violations of the motor vehicle code.

Edmund F. Davis, 281, Gifford Road, Fairless Hills, was fined $200 and imprisoned for from 30 days to one year. Davis was arrested last November by State Police on Route 1 in Falls Township.

Policeman's
Wife Stabbed

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—A policeman's wife was found stabbed to death in her home today and a statewide alarm was broadcast for her husband who, police said, left a note admitting the killing.

The body of Mrs. Theresa Setzer, 31, was found early today at her home 3158 Memphis St., when a policeman went there to find out why her husband, Richard, 29, had not reported for duty on the 8 A.M. shift.

Capt. David Roberts, head of the homicide squad, said Setzer left a note admitting the slaying and relating "difficulties" he and his wife had.

Roberts said the killing occurred Sunday night.

Mrs. Setzer's body was found downstairs in the living room covered with a blanket, a knife in her chest. Setzer's service revolver was found in the house, but Roberts said it was believed Setzer had another gun with him.

The broadcast for Setzer said he was armed and urged police to use caution. The alarm said Setzer may be temporarily deranged and may have suicidal tendencies.

He was described as 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighing 190 pounds. He may be driving a black 1950 coupe.

Dougherty Withdraws
Booz, Kehoe Charges

Earl B. Dougherty, Bristol Township justice of the peace and chairman of the Democratic Organization, withdrew Saturday, disorderly conduct and assault and battery charges he had filed against two other Democratic leaders.

Dougherty withdrew the charges after a conference between his attorney and attorneys for Eugene G. Kehoe and Oscar A. Booz, who had been arrested on Dougherty's charges, according to JP Josephine Morris, who was hearing the case.

The charges grew out of a pre-election incident in which Dougherty claimed Kehoe, who was then president of the township Board of Commissioners, and Booz, township secretary, threw "body blocks" at him.

Ike's Summit
Plan Backed

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate disarmament chairman today hailed President Eisenhower's proposal to Russia for a prompt ban on testing and production of space weapons.

The new U.S. proposal was made in the President's letter to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin Sunday. The President also left the door open for a "summit" meeting with Russia if preliminary talks indicate such a conference might produce results.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) told the United Press the Chief Executive's space ban plan represents a "broadened dimension" of previous American disarmament proposals "and a sound one, too."

Humphrey, chairman of the Senate foreign relations subcommittee on disarmament, said he was "not surprised" that Eisenhower's reply to Bulganin was "more positive than expected."

Declaring he "always believed the President to be a man of peace," the Senator said he hoped "the same spirit will permeate the State Department and the secretary (Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.)"

Baptist Pastor Leaves
For Graduate Studies

The Rev. Charles Olsen, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Bristol for the past three and one-half years, moved from Bristol, over the week-end, to Lexington, Mass., to pursue graduate studies.

His term as pastor ended Jan. 1, after the Reverend Olsen submitted his resignation to the church board. The board is seeking a prospective successor to present to the congregation for election.

The former pastor said he will probably study theology and history at Boston University, Mass.

10th Ward Democrats
To Organize Tonight

Democrats of the Tenth Ward, Bristol Township, will meet at the Bristol Motel, 8 o'clock tonight to discuss organization plans and by-laws drawn for the group.

William J. O'Neill, township commissioner from the Ward said the group will form a new organization. All registered Democrats in the ward are invited, he added.

The Tenth Ward includes Goldenridge, Indian Creek, Blue Ridge, Whitewood and Green Lynne.

Six Toll Bridge
Guards Appointed

Six new guards for the Trenton-Morrisville toll bridge have been appointed, the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission has announced.

They include the following: George J. Eichman, 265 Austin Drive, Fairless Hills; Wesley R. Evans, 124 West Franklin St., Morrisville; Clement Saxton, 818 Pennsylvania Ave., Croydon; Vincent L. Spanicciati, 346 Columbus Ave., Joseph A. Kasperowicz, 756 Pear St. and Thomas Fletcher, 28 Gilmore Road, all of Trenton.

Community
Fire Lights
Sky For Miles

More than 6,000 people turned out last night to watch the burning of over 12,000 Christmas trees in a community bonfire sponsored by the Levittown Kiwanis Club.

Brightened Skies

The roaring blaze brightened the sky for miles around the location at Newportville Road and Levittown Parkway.

Festivities began with the music of the Delhaas High School band shortly after 6 p.m.

Ambulances from the Bucks County Rescue Squad and the Levittown - Fairless Hills Squad also supplied lights to the party.

The choral group of Levittown's James Buchanan School led the crowd in singing Christmas songs.

At 6:30 p.m. C. W. Van Tilburg, club president, struck a flaming torch to the bonfire igniting the huge pile of trees.

Firemen from Levittown No. 1 and Levittown No. 2 companies and the Fairless Hills Fire Company were on hand.

Boy Scouts from troops 102 and 106 helped pile the trees.

Budget

debt ceiling of 275 billion dollars. In some recent years Congress has granted a temporary increase of as much as six billion dollars. The debt now exceeds 274 billion dollars.

A total of 47.1 billion dollars, 64 per cent of the budget, was allotted for "protection" — national security and foreign aid. This was an increase of 800 million dollars over 1958.

Of this "protection" money, the U.S. armed forces would get 38.9 billion dollars — an increase of 900 million dollars over this year.

This increase in defense spending was much smaller than some military, congressional civilian and scientific leaders have been clamoring for. The special Rockefeller panel last week urged an increase of three billion dollars this year, to be followed by additional similar increases in the next several years.

Reflects New Age

The budget reflected "the swiftly moving character of the time" when the world is moving into the space age with science and technology almost daily opening "wholly new vistas to all mankind," the President said.

"I feel confident that this budget expresses the way in which the American people will want to respond to the promises and dangers of the dawning age of space conquest," he said. "New dimensions must be added to our defenses, and outmoded activities must be discarded."

Frankenfield was released in $500 bail on a charge of involuntary manslaughter after the accident.

Finlan's wife, Marion, 35, and a son Frederick, 9, were released after treatment at Mercer Hospital, Trenton.

A passenger in Frankenfield's car, Harold McAllister, 20, of Philadelphia, suffered a bruised chin. He was released after treatment at Lower Bucks County Hospital.

Assisting at the scene of the accident were Falls Police Chief Franklin Kirby, Lt. Julius Messzaros and Patrolmen George Mitchell, Wallace McCamish, John Taft, Charles Beck and William Kershaw. Patrolman Moyer also took pictures at the scene of the accident.

Five other accidents were reported in Falls over the weekend, none serious.

Reception Slated For Art Group

A reception for members and guests of the Morrisville-Trenton Art Group will be held on Wednesday at 8:45 p.m. at the Lambertville House, Lambertville, N.J.

The reception will be held in the dining room gallery. Refreshments will be served and the public is invited.

Seventeen members of the art group are exhibiting in the dining room gallery and the candlelight lounge this month. They will complete its members' exhibit with a second showing next September.

Those from Morrisville who are exhibiting include Bertrand Dickinson, Earl Donelson, Amy Wells Fell, Charles M. Fox, Thelma Andrews, Helen Gould and J. Gordon White; and John W. Gardner, of Levittown.

The art group was organized in 1935 for exhibiting members' works and otherwise furthering local interest in art. It is a semi-professional group which, starting with nine members, now numbers 47, five of whom are sculptors and 17 instructors in local school systems.

School Book Date Slated

The 20th annual Morrisville High School yearbook "Robert Morris" will be completed by Feb. 1, Miss Marilyn Burke, senior editor, announced today. Publication is scheduled for May.

According to Miss Burke, the advertising section, senior section and faculty and underclassmen section have all been sent to the printer and the remainder of the copy will be ready soon.

This year's yearbook will be the largest ever published by the school and will include a 16-page Summer supplement. In addition there will be a full color page picture of the school.

The yearbook will be dedicated to an outstanding school personality. The recipient of this honor is kept a secret until the book is distributed and then the selected individual receives the first copy of the book.

Lower Makefield PTA Sets Town Meeting

The Lower Makefield Parent-Teacher Association will feature an "old-fashioned" Town Meeting at its regular session on Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Makefield School.

Parents are invited to attend and ask questions, according to Jerome Levy, president, and "get pet peeves off their chests, criticize or praise."

Dr. Lee Kustaborder is program chairman.
